Valéron Strength Films offers unique film properties such as high tensile strength, tear resistance and puncture resistance for the most challenging tag and label applications possible. They offer smoother printing surfaces and are easier to use in the converting process.

Valéron based labels can be found in a variety of demanding applications such as e.g. pharmaceutical labels, rebar and steel tags, lumber tags, brick tags, cargo tags, safety labels, banners and signs etc.

Valéron Strength Films works with customers on tailor-made labeling solutions and R&D projects that offer value and safety throughout the value chain.
